

- Working with external parties across corporate boundaries is part of today's connected regulatory working world. The challenge arises that today's systems only support internal processes and do not include the outside world. Connecting external business partners securely can now be done with cune-Portal.
- Cune-Portal is an elegant solution to share documents, eCTD's, eTMF's or SOP's with internal and external users.
- The internal user selects the relevant content sections to be shared, as well as the sharing period. The system informs the recipient who then can securely access the shared content using online navigation. The internal user can enable the ability to download content for offline use.
